Although in the past, with a straight session, the delay has been in the introduction of bills late in the session—and the present method obviates this difficulty—there seems to be no hope that it will be possible to take action on the bills now pending, to say nothing of those which may yet be introduced, under less than two months.

The reorganization of the assembly was first taken up, the officers having been discharged during the interim to save per diem expense. Whether Young must be re-elected or not was the primary consideration.

It is expected two hundred more bills will be introduced in this last half of the session. The 3800 documents already to be considered consist of 3700 bills and several proposed cession to William Loeb Jr. constitutional amendments.

The first scrap of the latter half of the session was scheduled for 2 o'clock when the matter of again referring to the assembly judiciary of Miss Julia Lathrop, head of the committee Benedict's discriminatory children's bureau, are sending many practices or anti-trust measure, to come up as a special order of busi-ness. KAISER'S COUSIN INVENTS PLANE: FORBIDDEN TO FLY

DERLIN, March 10 .- Prince Frederick Sigismund of Prussia, cousin of the German emperor, is the inventor and builder of a successful aeroplane, but he has been forbidden by both his father and the emperor from going aloft in the product of his ingenuity. When his machine flies the prince stands on the ground and watches his paid assistant reap the sensations of success that rightly should be his.

WOMAN THROWS POWDER IN FIRE AND INSTANTLY IS ENSHROUDED IN FLAMES

ORANGE, March 10 .- The careless tossing of a bottle partly filled with powder into a fire in her kitchen stove, almost resulted in Mrs. P. G. Eppley being burned to death at her home here Sunday morning. Had it not been for the quickness of mind of her husband, there is little doubt that the woman would have lost her life.

The Eppleys had planned an outing for the day, and the wife had about finished cleaning up around the kitchen, when she espied the old bottle, and forgetting for the moment its contents, tossed it along with some other rubbish into the fire. Instantly there was a flash of flames which struck her about the fact and right side, burning her face, chest and right arm, and singeing her

Her husband heard her screams and rushed from an adjoining room, grabbing up a large rug as he did so, and promptly wrapped it about the blazing woman. The flames were quickly extinguished, but not before Mrs. Eppley had been severely injured. She was given prompt medical attention and it is probable that she will not be disfigured for life, although this is not certain yet.

Fear of Suffragette Attack Was Dominant Note of the Entire Proceedings

LONDON, March 10 .- Not since the Explosion in Dynamite Works Guy Fawkes gunpowder plot of three centuries ago have the parliament buildings been spbjected to so thorough a search as today when the picturesque yeomen of the guard, attired in Tudor uniform, combed the building prior to the new session of parliament. They searched the cellars to the tower for possible suffragettes in hiding, or for suffragette bombs. Hundreds of plain clothes operatives aided the official guards. Many prominent suffragettes are under surveillance, fearing a violent demonstration in the assembling of the British legislators. Large squads of police reserves were held throughout the city. The royal party, under a heavy guard, drove to the parliament in a lumbering gilt vehicle drawn by eight with richly robed and coroneted peeresses who rose as the royal party entered amid a flourish of trumpets. King George handed Queen Mary to her seat, then sat beside her. Lord Chancellor Haldane sent for the house of commons. The king then received Speaker Lowther and Premier Asquith, after which he read his speech from the throne. The procession was then reformed and English monarchs returned to the palace. DR. BARNES ALSO ON HIS INITIAL VOYAGE

All Stages of Flights From Newport Beach

Up in the air something like 700 the first time yesterday by James Irvine, the well known owner of the famous San Joaquin ranch, when he accompanied Aviator Glenn L. Martin on an aerial voyage. Mr. Irvine made wonderful Trip the trip to satisfy a long cherished desire to sail through the air which he has felt ever since he saw Martin in his workshop constructing his first aeroplane. The trip yesterday was made with Martin in his hydro-aeroplane from Newport Reach plane from Newport Beach.

Several years ago Mr. Irvine became on the Irvine ranch that the latter made his first flights. Since that time he has been awaiting an opportunity to take a ride with the noted aviator. The start was made at 2:30 o'clock, and the hydro-aeroplane rose gracefully from the water of the bay and started seaward. Two miles out Martin turned in his course and skirted the bluffs at the entrance of the harbor, and alighted gracefully upon the bay. The trip was made in twenty minutes, the maximum elevation of 700 feet was attained, and approximately sixteen miles were covered.

Mr. Irvine is greatly interested in the science of flying. He is a close friend of Mr. Martin and has been a close observer of the progress made by that aviator. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Irvine and a party of friends from Cincinnati who are visiting him at his country home near Santa Ana motored to Balboa island, where Mr. Martin has hangars for his hydro-aero craft.

Fast Flying
Outward and upward the machine purred, rising without a jar or quiver until it attained the height of 700 feet. With the head still pointed westward, Mr. Martin stopped rising and traveled at a rate of fifty-five miles an hour toward the sun that occasionally was hidden for brief periods by fleeting bits of snowy clouds. It was an ideal Practically Perfect Sailing at day for flight. The passenger became enthusiastically interested in the manipulation and was instructed by Participants With the Aviator Martin. After a circuit of several miles over the tumbling waves, the craft was turned inland.

Made in the Holy Land, at the exact locations where Jesus of Nazareth and the prinbiblical characters appeared when this great world drama was in the making, the motion pictures are not only biblically, but historically and geographically correct as well.

After the first presentation of "From the Manger to the Cross" in Los Angeles recently, Otheman Stevens, dramatic critic of the Los Angeles Examiner, said of the pictures:

"At the Auditorium this week is a motion picture of the deepest interest. Its subject is the life of Jesus of Nazareth, and it is presented with fornia records, including interscholas-tic and intercollegiate records for the half mile run by the marvelous time depth of sentiment which characterizes the Passion Play of Oberammer-

F. H. Case, chairman of the com mittee, has been unable to get the entire committee together upon the matter, and for that and other reasons it has been deemed advisable to drop the matter.

Before leaving for Sacramento, State Senator Anderson and Assemblyman Weisel made an investiga ion on their own hook, and are said to be in a much better position to judge what amendments should be made to the salaries bill than they were before they returned home for the interim. That the legislators Myford Rancher Had Difficult had gained as much information as the committee could have given them may have been one reason for dis pensing with further action on the part of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.
